

Work on Demand Online Seminars

2 – 4 June, 2021

Wed, 2 June The Legal Constitution of Labour Markets

Diamond Ashiagbor, University of Kent

'Embedded Racialisation': Racial Hierarchies in the Construction of Labour Markets and Precarity

Noah Zatz, University of California, Los Angeles

Better Than Jail: Social Policy in the Shadow of Racialized Mass Incarceration

Manoj Dias-Abey, University of Bristol

Migration and labour markets: A labour law appraisal

Chair: Ruth Dukes, University of Glasgow

Thur, 3 June The Legal Constitution of Working Relations

Brishen Rogers, Temple University

Data analytics, employment laws, and industrial organization

Eleanor Kirk, University of Glasgow

Law and Legalities at Work: the Role of the HR Profession as Producers and Transmitters of Legal Ideology

Gregoris Ioannou, University of Glasgow

Modalities of Work in the Tourism and Catering Sector in Greece

Chair: Valeria Pulignano, University of Leuven

Fri, 4 June Gig Work and the Law

Noel Whiteside, University of Warwick

Before the Gig Economy: UK employment policy and the casual labour problem

Tonia Novitz, University of Bristol

Gig work as a manifestation of short termism – the sustainability problem?

Alessio Bertolini, University of Oxford, and Ruth Dukes, Glasgow

Worker Representation in the Shadow of the Law: Trade Unions and Gig Workers in the UK

Chair: Judy Fudge, McMaster University